

THE ROLE OF THE NATIONAL RAPPORTEUR IN COMBATTING HUMAN TRAFFICKING – GOOD PRACTICE EXCHANGE

THURSDAY 26 JANUARY 2012
THE HAGUE, NETHERLANDS

Monday 12 December 2011

Dear Ms Cardoso,

I would like to invite you to a parliamentary Good Practice Exchange. It will be held in The Hague on Thursday 26 January 2012. Our project aims to bring together more than one hundred parliamentarians from all EU countries that will create a strong network against human trafficking.

The costs of travel to the seminar and one night of accommodation at a designated hotel will be covered by the European Commission and the Tudor Trust, who are jointly funding this EU wide project.

This meeting will provide a forum for parliamentarians, NGOs, law enforcement agencies and representatives from the business community to focus on the example of how the office of the National Rapporteur interacts with parliamentarians in the Netherlands, and to examine how this compares with other systems across Europe.

The meeting follows on from the inaugural seminar of the project, held in London on Thursday 24 November 2011, which focused on prevention of human trafficking.

I would very much like you to attend. There will be parliamentarians from Austria, Denmark, Finland, Greece, Italy, The Netherlands, Poland, Romania, Sweden and the UK. Please email Emma Makey, Project Assistant at e.makey@ecpat.org.uk not later than 21 December 2012.
