

23 February 2023

Dear colleagues,

We have the great honour of inviting you to the interparliamentary conference on the EU's future energy supply on 23–24 April in Stockholm, Sweden. The conference forms part of the parliamentary dimension of Sweden's Presidency of the EU Council of Ministers during the first half of 2023.

The overall theme of the conference will be the EU's future energy supply with a special focus on the challenges that follow in the shadow of an unsettled world order. Our hope is that the conference will offer a good opportunity to share knowledge and experience linked to the overall theme, which will be beneficial to the EU as well as individual member states in facing current and future challenges related to energy policy.

We are convinced that your participation will contribute with important perspectives on the overall theme, and that the opportunity to meet will also serve to strengthen the ties between the elected representatives in the member states' national parliaments as well as the European Parliament.

Please find a draft programme attached, as well as practical information about the conference.

We look forward to welcoming you to Stockholm.

Tobias Andersson (Sweden Democrats)
Chair
The Committee on Industry and Trade

Elisabeth Thand Ringqvist (Centre Party)
Deputy Chair
The Committee on Industry and Trade